GENUINE BYZANTINE ORTHODOX CHURCH

OFFICE OF THE METROPOLITAN PRIMATE

PRIMATIAL ENCYCLICAL

On the Occasion of the Beginning of the Ecclesiastical New Year

To the Most Reverend Hierarchs, Reverend Clergy, Venerable Monastics, Beloved Brothers and Sisters in Christ, and All the Faithful Children of the Genuine Byzantine Orthodox Church:

Grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ, through the power and communion of the All-Holy, Good, and Life-Giving Spirit.

Beloved in Christ,

As we enter once again into the sacred beginning of the Ecclesiastical New Year, beginning on the first day of September, I extend to each of you my paternal blessings, archpastoral greetings, and fervent prayers for a year filled with the grace, mercy, wisdom, and abundant blessings of Almighty God.

The beginning of the Church Year is not merely a change of dates upon the calendar. It is a sacred invitation to renew our lives in Christ, to deepen our commitment to the Holy Orthodox Faith, and to dedicate ourselves afresh to the spiritual work entrusted to us by our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

Holy Scripture declares:

“Thou shalt bless the crown of the year with Thy goodness; and Thy paths shall drop fatness.” (Psalm 64:12 LXX)

These words remind us that every season, every opportunity, every challenge, and every blessing of our earthly pilgrimage must be received with thanksgiving and offered back to God through faithful obedience, prayer, repentance, and love.

I. A CALL TO SPIRITUAL RENEWAL

Beloved children of the Church,

The beginning of a new ecclesiastical year calls each of us to examine our hearts and renew our commitment to the life of the Church.

We must not allow the passing of time to find us spiritually unchanged, indifferent to the commandments of God, or distant from the sacramental life of the Church.

Rather, let us renew our devotion to prayer, fasting, repentance, the reading of Holy Scripture, participation in the Divine Liturgy, and the reception of the Holy Mysteries with proper preparation and reverence.

Let us put away resentment, jealousy, bitterness, pride, division, and every spirit that weakens the unity of the Body of Christ.

May our parishes become communities of holiness, our homes become places of prayer, our monasteries become sanctuaries of spiritual transformation, and our lives become living testimonies of the Gospel.

For the Apostle Paul exhorts us:

"If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature." (2 Corinthians 5:17)

May this new ecclesiastical year become a season of genuine spiritual renewal and transformation for every member of our Church.

II. UNITY, LOVE, AND FAITHFULNESS TO THE HOLY TRADITION

As a Church entrusted with the preservation and proclamation of the Orthodox Christian Faith, we must remain steadfast in the apostolic teachings, the Holy Scriptures, the sacred Canons, the teachings of the Holy Fathers, and the liturgical and spiritual inheritance of the Byzantine Orthodox Tradition.

Our unity must not be merely institutional or administrative. It must be rooted in our common confession of the Holy Trinity, our participation in the sacramental life of the Church, and our love for one another in Jesus Christ.

I therefore exhort all our hierarchs, priests, deacons, monastics, and faithful to cultivate humility, mutual respect, obedience according to the order of the Church, and brotherly love.

Let us reject unnecessary divisions and personal ambitions. Let us never permit disagreements, misunderstandings, or worldly interests to overshadow the sacred responsibility of serving Christ and His Holy Church.

Our calling is not to glorify ourselves, but to glorify God through our words, conduct, and service.

III. THE MISSION OF THE CHURCH IN THE WORLD

The Church exists not only for its own preservation but also for the proclamation of the Gospel and the salvation of humanity.

Our Lord commands us to carry His light into the world and to become instruments of His mercy and compassion.

During this new ecclesiastical year, let us strengthen our missionary responsibilities, support the establishment and growth of Orthodox Christian communities, encourage theological education, nurture vocations to the priesthood and monastic life, and extend Christian assistance to those who suffer.

We must remember the poor, the unemployed, the homeless, the sick, the elderly, the widows, the orphans, the persecuted, and all those who have been forgotten or abandoned by society.

Our missionary efforts in Africa and Pakistan, together with our vision for the establishment of a permanent Orthodox monastery, must be guided by prayer, responsible stewardship, fidelity to the Orthodox Faith, and genuine love for our neighbours.

Let our charity be sincere, our missionary witness be faithful, and our service be offered without discrimination or expectation of earthly reward.

As our Saviour teaches:

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.” (Matthew 5:16)

IV. A CALL TO PRAYER, REPENTANCE, AND HOLINESS

Beloved brothers and sisters,

We live in a world marked by uncertainty, conflict, suffering, moral confusion, and spiritual distraction. Yet the Church must never surrender hope, for our hope is founded not upon the passing circumstances of this world but upon the eternal promises of God.

Let every parish renew its prayer life. Let every priest serve the Holy Mysteries with reverence and diligence. Let every family establish a regular rhythm of prayer. Let our young people be instructed in the Orthodox Faith, and let our elders be honoured for their wisdom, sacrifice, and steadfastness.

Let us remember that holiness is not reserved for a select few. It is the calling of every Christian.

Through repentance, prayer, humility, participation in the Holy Mysteries, and the continual pursuit of the virtues, we are called to grow in communion with God and to participate in His divine grace.

May the Lord grant us the strength to overcome temptation, the wisdom to discern His will, the courage to proclaim His truth, and the humility to serve one another.

V. BLESSINGS FOR THE NEW ECCLESIASTICAL YEAR

As your Metropolitan Primate, I prayerfully commend the coming ecclesiastical year to the loving providence of Almighty God.

I invoke the blessings of our Lord Jesus Christ upon:

- All our hierarchs, that they may shepherd the flock of Christ with wisdom, holiness, and discernment.
- All our priests and deacons, that they may serve faithfully and worthily at the Holy Altar.
- All our monastics, that their lives may remain dedicated to prayer, repentance, and spiritual witness.
- All our parishes and missions, that they may grow in faith, unity, holiness, and love.
- All our families, that their homes may be sanctuaries of peace, forgiveness, and Christian devotion.

- All our children and young people, that they may grow in wisdom, grace, and knowledge of God.
- All the sick, suffering, unemployed, homeless, and afflicted, that the Lord may grant them consolation, healing, provision, and deliverance.
- All our benefactors and supporters, that God may bless their generosity and reward their acts of Christian love.
- All those labouring in our missionary and humanitarian endeavours, that the Lord may strengthen their hands and make their efforts fruitful.

May the All-Holy Theotokos, the Mother of our Lord Jesus Christ, intercede for us before her Son. May the holy Apostles, the Holy Fathers, the Martyrs, the Confessors, and all the Saints pray for the preservation and spiritual growth of our Holy Church.

May the Lord grant peace to the world, unity to His Church, strength to those who labour in His vineyard, and salvation to all who call upon His Holy Name.

CONCLUSION

Beloved children in Christ,

Let us begin this new ecclesiastical year with renewed faith, unwavering hope, sincere repentance, and steadfast love.

Let us not merely count the days of the coming year, but make every day an offering to God.

Let us not merely speak of the Orthodox Faith, but live it.

Let us not merely build institutions, but build lives transformed by the grace of the Holy Spirit.

Let us not merely seek blessings for ourselves, but become instruments through whom God's blessings reach others.

May this ecclesiastical year be a year of spiritual awakening, missionary growth, ecclesiastical unity, charitable service, and abundant divine grace for the entire Genuine Byzantine Orthodox Church.

May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God the Father, and the communion of the Holy Spirit be with you all, now and ever, and unto the ages of ages. Amen.

With paternal love, archpastoral prayers, and my blessing,

† METROPOLITAN ARCHBISHOP MARK

Glory to God for all things!

This feast, celebrated on February 2, is known in the Orthodox Church as The Presentation of Christ in the Temple. Another name for the feast is The Meeting of our Lord. Roman Catholic and Protestant Christians call the feast, The Purification of the Holy Virgin. About 450 AD in Jerusalem, people began the custom of holding lighted candles during the Divine Liturgy of this feast day. Therefore, some churches in the West refer to this holy day as Candlemas. The Feast of the Presentation concludes the observances related to the Nativity of Christ, a period that opened on November 15 with the beginning of the Nativity fast.

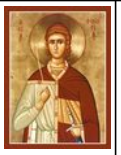

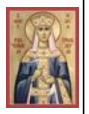

Biblical Story

The story of the Presentation is told in Luke 2:22-29. Mary and Joseph were faithful Jews and observed their religious customs. An important custom was for the couple to take their first-born son to the Temple. The baby was taken to the Temple forty days after his birth and was dedicated to God.

The Feast of the Annunciation of Our Most Holy Lady, the Theotokos and Ever-Virgin Mary is celebrated on March 25 each year. The Feast commemorates the announcement by the Archangel Gabriel to the Virgin Mary that our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, the Son of God, would become incarnate and enter this world through her womb.

Biblical Story

The biblical story of the Feast of the Annunciation is found in the first chapter of the Gospel of Luke (1:26-39). The Archangel Gabriel appeared to the Virgin Mary, who was living in Nazareth, and said to her, “Hail, O favored one, the Lord is with you.” Mary was perplexed and wondered what kind of greeting this was.

The Greek and Slavonic names for the Feast may be translated as "good tidings." This, of course, refers to the Incarnation of the Son of God and the salvation He brings. The background of the Annunciation is found in the Gospel of St Luke (1:26-38). The troparion describes this as the "beginning of our salvation, and the revelation of the eternal mystery," for on this day the Son of God became the Son of Man.

The feast of the Annunciation of the Virgin Mary comes nine months before the Nativity of Our Lord known as Christmas on the twenty-fifth of March. It is the celebration of the announcing of the birth of Christ to the Virgin Mary as recorded in the Gospel of Saint Luke. In other words, this is the day of the Incarnation as it is known in the civil world as conception of our Lord Jesus Christ.

On the Sunday before Great and Holy Pascha (known as Easter in the West), the Eastern Orthodox Church celebrates one of its most joyous feasts. Palm Sunday is the celebration of the Entrance of our Lord into Jerusalem following His raising Lazarus from the dead. Having anticipated His arrival, the people go out to welcome the Lord with displays of honor and shouts of praise. On this day, we receive and worship Christ in this same manner, acknowledging Him as the promised Messiah, our King and Lord.

We find the story of Palm Sunday in all four of the Gospels (Matthew 21:1-11; Mark 11:1-10; Luke 19:28-38; and John 12:12-18). Five days before the Passover, Jesus came from Bethany to Jerusalem. Having sent two of His disciples to bring Him a colt of a donkey, Jesus sat upon it and entered the city. People gathered in Jerusalem for the Passover were looking for Jesus. Both because of His great works and teaching, and because they'd heard of the miracle of the resurrection of Lazarus. When they heard Christ was entering the city, they went out to meet Him with palm branches. They laid their garments on the ground before Him and shouted, "Hosanna! Blessed is He that comes in the Name of the Lord, the King of Israel!"

On the Great and Holy Feast of Pascha, Orthodox Christians celebrate the life-giving Resurrection of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. This feast of feasts is the most significant day in the life of the Church. It is a celebration of the defeat of death, as neither death itself nor the power of the grave could hold our Savior captive. In this victory that came through the Cross, Christ broke the bondage of sin, and through faith offers us restoration, transformation, and eternal life.

The Feast of the Ascension of our Lord God and Savior Jesus Christ is celebrated each year on the fortieth day after the Great and Holy Feast of Pascha (Easter). Since the date of Pascha changes each year, the date of the Feast of the Ascension changes. The Feast is always celebrated on a Thursday.

This is the final feast of the great mystery and dispensation of God's incarnation. On this last, and great, and saving day of Pentecost, the Apostles of the Saviour, who were unlearned fishermen, made wise now of a sudden by the Holy Spirit, clearly and with divine authority spoke the heavenly doctrines. They became heralds of the truth and teachers of the whole world. On this day they were ordained and began their apostleship, of which the salvation of those three thousand souls in one day was the comely and marvellous first fruit.

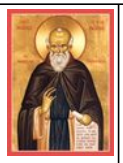

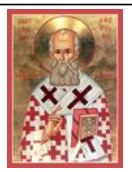

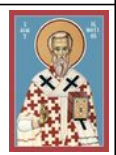

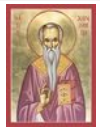

Saint Epiphanius of Cyprus writes, "The Church, which exists from the ages, is revealed most clearly in the incarnate advent of Christ" (PG 42:640). Saint John Damascene observes, "The Holy Catholic Church of God, therefore, is the assembly of the holy Fathers, Patriarchs, Prophets, Apostles, Evangelists, and Martyrs who have been from the very beginning, to whom were added all the nations who believed with one accord" (PG 96, 1357c). According to Saint Gregory the Theologian, "The Prophets established the Church, the Apostles conjoined it, and the Evangelists set it in order" (PG 35, 589 A). The Church existed from the creation of the Angels, for the Angels came into existence before the creation of the world, and they have always been members of the Church. Saint Clement, Bishop of Rome, says in his second epistle to the Corinthians, the Church "was created before the sun and moon"; and a little further on, "The Church existeth not now for the first time, but hath been from the beginning" (II Cor. 14).

That which came to pass at Pentecost, then, was the ordination of the Apostles, the commencement of the apostolic preaching to the nations, and the inauguration of the priesthood of the new Israel. Saint Cyril of Alexandria says that "Our Lord Jesus Christ herein ordained the instructors and teachers of the world and the stewards of His divine Mysteries ... showing together with the dignity of Apostleship, the incomparable glory of the authority given them ...Revealing them to be splendid with the great dignity of the Apostleship and showing them forth as both stewards and priests of the divine altars . . . they became fit to initiate others through the enlightening guidance of the Holy Spirit"

The Bible contains 4 lists of the names of the 12 apostles: Matt 10:12, Mark 3:13, Luke 6:14 and Acts 1:13. They vary slightly as well as the sequence although they list Peter first, even though it was Andrew (his brother) who was called first by the Lord. It is believed that Christ selected only 12 which was the number of the twelve sons of Jacob who later became the leaders of the 12 tribes of Israel. After Pentecost, Christ's 12 disciples became the leaders of the "new Israel." The number 12 was considered so important that very shortly after the falling of Judas Iscariot, the remaining 11 voted in a new Apostle by the name Matthias, so that there would be 12 once again.

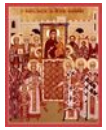

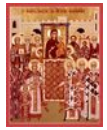

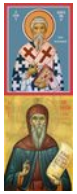

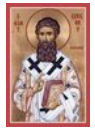

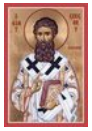

These apostles followed Christ as He traveled and were eye witnesses to His numerous wonders. After the Ascension of Jesus back to heaven they continued His work of redeeming mankind from sin. In fact at the Ascension Jesus commanded the apostles to go out and make disciples of all nations through baptism and to teach nations all that they had observed and all that He commanded of them. He enabled them to succeed in that he bestowed the Holy Spirit upon them (at Pentecost) as they traveled

The Dormition (Falling Asleep) of the Theotokos is one of the Great Feasts of the Orthodox Church, celebrated on August 15. The Feast of the Dormition, which is also sometimes called the Assumption, commemorates the death, resurrection and glorification of Christ's mother. It proclaims that Mary has been "gloriofied" by God into the heavenly kingdom of Christ in the fullness of her spiritual and bodily existence.

The Orthodox Church teaches that Mary is without personal sins. In the Gospel of the feast, however, in the liturgical services and in the Dormition icon, the Church proclaims as well that Mary truly needed to be saved by Christ as all human persons are saved from the trials, sufferings and death of this world; and that having truly died, she was raised up by her Son as the Mother of Life and participates already in the eternal life of paradise which is prepared and promised to all who "hear the word of God and keep it" (Lk11.27–28).

The Apostles were miraculously summoned to this event, and all were present except Thomas when Mary passed from this life. She was then buried.

Thomas arrived a few days later, and desiring to see her one more time, convinced the others to open her tomb. Upon doing so, the Apostles discovered that her body was no longer present. This event is seen as a firstfruits of the resurrection of the faithful that will occur at the Second Coming of Christ. The event is normally called the Dormition,

Her bodily assumption was confirmed by the message of an angel and by her appearance to the Apostles. Orthodox theology teaches that the Theotokos has already undergone the bodily resurrection, which all will experience at the second coming. She stands in heaven in that glorified state which the other righteous ones will only enjoy after the Last Judgment.

Orthodox Christian Celebration of the Feast of the Universal Exaltation of the Precious and Life-Giving Cross

In the twentieth year of his reign (326), the Emperor Constantine sent his mother Saint Helen to Jerusalem to venerate the holy places and to find the site of the Holy Sepulchre and of the Cross. Relying upon the oral tradition of the faithful, Saint Helen found the precious Cross together with the crosses of the two thieves crucified with our Lord. However, Helen had no way of determining which was the Cross of Christ.

With the healing of a dying woman who touched one of the crosses, Patriarch Macarius of Jerusalem identified the True Cross of Christ. Saint Helen and her court venerated the Precious and Life-Giving Cross along with many others who came to see this great instrument of Redemption.

The Patriarch mounted the ambo (pulpit) and lifted the Cross with both hands so that all of the people gathered could see it. The crowd responded with "Lord have mercy".

This became the occasion of the institution in all of the Churches of the Exaltation of the Precious Cross, not only in memory of the event of the finding of the Cross, but also to celebrate how an instrument of shame was used to overcome death and bring salvation and eternal life.

The Message of the Cross" (I Cor. 1:18-24 sermon)

"For the word of the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved, it is the power of God"!

The victory of Orthodoxy over Arianism

On this day in the year 351, not long after Saint Cyril of Jerusalem had succeeded Maximus as Archbishop of Jerusalem, during the reign of Constantius, the son of Saint Constantine the Great, on the day of Pentecost, the multi-attested sign of the Cross appeared over Jerusalem.

Saint Cyril, in his letter to the Emperor Constantius, describes the event he witnessed with his own eyes:

On the nones [or 7th] of May, about the third hour [or nine in the morning], a vast luminous body, in the form of a Cross, appeared in the heavens, just over the holy Golgotha, reaching as far as the holy Mount of Olives [that is, almost two English miles in length], seen not by one or two persons, but clearly and evidently by the whole city. This was not, as may be thought, a momentary transient phenomenon: for it continued several hours visible to our eyes, and brighter than the sun, the light of which would have eclipsed it, had not this been stronger. The whole city, struck with a reverential fear, tempered with joy, ran immediately to the church, young and old, Christians and heathens, citizens and strangers, all with one voice giving praise to our Lord Jesus Christ, the only Son of God, the worker of miracles; finding by experience the truth of the Christian doctrine, to which the heavens bear witness. (PG 33:1 16q)

He concludes his letter with wishes that the emperor may always glorify the holy and consubstantial Trinity. Historians of the time, both Orthodox and non-Orthodox, including Sozomen, Theophanes, Eutychius, John of Nice, Glycas, and others quote Saint Cyril concerning this event. Others, such as Socrates, Philostorgius, and the anonymous Chronicle of Alexandria give their own account of this phenomenon. This miracle was regarded by the Christians as the final victory of Orthodoxy over Arianism. Philostorgius and the Chronicle of Alexandria affirm that this Cross of light was encircled with a "large rainbow".

Victory of True Orthodoxy over Modernist, Ecumenist and Heretics

In 1925, on the eve, of the feast of the Exaltation of the All-Honourable and Life-giving Cross of our Saviour, 14 September according to the Orthodox Church calendar, the all-night vigil was served at the church of St. John the Theologian in suburban Athens. By 9 o'clock that evening, more than 2,000 of the true-Orthodox faithful had gathered in and around the church for the service, since very few true-Orthodox churches had been accidentally left open by the civil authorities. Such a large gathering of people could not, however, go unnoticed by the authorities. Around eleven P.M. the authorities dispatched a battalion of police to the church "to prevent any disorders which might arise from such a large gathering." The gathering was too large for the police to take any direct action or to arrest the priest at that time and so they joined the crowd of worshippers in the already over-flowing courtyard of the church.

Then, regardless of the true motives for their presence, against their own will, but according to the Will which exceeds all human power, they became participants in the miraculous experience of the crowd of believers.

At 11:30 P.M., there began to appear in the heavens above the church, in the direction of North-East, a bright, radiant Cross of light. The light not only illuminated the church and the faithful but, in its rays, the stars of the clear, cloudless sky became dim and the church-yard was filled with an almost tangible light. The form of the Cross itself was an especially dense light and it could be clearly seen as a Byzantine cross with an angular cross bar toward the bottom. This heavenly miracle lasted for half an hour, until midnight, and then the Cross began slowly to raise up vertically, as the cross in the hands of the priest does in the ceremony of the Elevation of the Cross in church. Having come straight up, the Cross began gradually to fade away.

The human language is not adequate to convey what took place during the apparition. The entire crowd fell prostrate upon the ground with tears and began to sing prayers, praising the Lord with one heart and one mouth. The police were among those who wept, suddenly discovering, in the depths of their hearts, a childlike faith. The crowd of believers and the battalion of police were transformed into one, unified flock of faithful. All were seized with a holy ecstasy.

Many of the unbelievers, sophists and renovationists, realizing their sin and guilt, but unwilling to repent, tried by every means to explain away or deny this miracle. The fact that the form of the cross had been so sharply and clearly that of the Byzantine (sometimes called the Russian Cross) Cross, with three cross-bars, the bottom one at an angle, completely negated any arguments of accidental physical phenomenon.

The fact that such an apparition of the Cross had also occurred during the height of the first great heresy must strike the Orthodox with an especial sense of the magnitude of the importance of the calendar question and of all that is connected with it. No sensible person can discuss this issue lightly, with secular reasoning or with worldly arguments. Renovationists, like the Arians in 351, are left without extenuation or mitigation.

THE MYSTICAL ICON OF THE HOLY ORTHODOX CHURCH

The Mystical Icon of the Holy Church is taken from prototypes from the 17th Century. In the middle, of course, the Church is symbolized as a ship with Christ at the helm holding the holy Rudder.

The Rudder in the Orthodox Church is the book which contains the Holy Canons which directs the Church in the proper mode of conduct and confession of Faith. Inside the Ark is the Virgin Mary, and in front of her are the four Evangelists, John, Matthew, Mark and Luke. At the bow of the ship are Peter and Paul, holding the anchor, which is shaped in a three pronged end, signifying belief in the Trinity. Behind them are the Holy Fathers of the Church, Saint John Chrysostom, St. Gregory the Theologian, St. Basil the Great, St. Athanasios of Alexandria, and St. Gregory Palamas, with multitudes of holy Fathers, and Mothers, and Martyrs, etc., etc., as signified by the halos. This all symbolizes the bosom of the Church, both triumphant and militant.

On the bottom of the icon are the enemies of Christ and His Church; that is, all who have fought against Her and persecuted Her, for if one fights against the Church, he is fighting against Christ.

From left to right, Antichrist is depicted as a king on his horse and behind him is an old man with a crown on his head, signifying Israel with the star of David on his crown, holding a bag of gold. He has his arm around the harlot of the Apocalypse, with her cup in her hand.

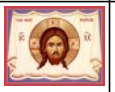

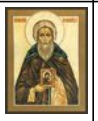

Below the Antichrist are those who will fight for him. Antichrist is going to come from Jewish lineage, and will reign in Jerusalem and will want all to submit to him. Those who do not will be persecuted. This is the symbolism of those who are under the caption called Antichrist and his Minions. Next to him to the right is a dreadful looking beast, which is called New Age. New Age is a revival of paganism presented with new packaging. It encompasses the occult, which has absolutely no reverence for Christ.
